

Master Gardener Program

The Master Gardener program was developed to educate Utahans about the art and science of growing and caring for plants. Once a week starting in mid-January and ending in April, garden enthusiast and novices alike meet once a week to attend a seminar taught by a combination of Utah State University Extension Service faculty and industry professionals.

Once trained, Master gardeners continue their education by returning 40 hours of volunteer service to the USU Extension. Through community service projects, Master Gardeners share what they have learned with others by helping with phone calls, manning information booths, helping to maintain demonstration gardens, participation in the Junior Master Gardener Program and helping with many other activities. Volunteer service is not a mandatory requirement to take the class.

Special needs: for any special arrangements including dietary, physical accesses, or other accommodation requests, please contact Utah State University Extension at (435) 586-8132. Utah State University is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer and educational organization. We offer our programs regardless of race, color, national origin, gender, religion, age, or disability.
