Spending your income

2. What are you thinking about when you buy?

Do you have spending habits? Where did these habits come from?
Personality Types

We all fit somewhere on the scale between each of these two extremes:

• Spender or Saver
• Conservative or Risk Taker
• Worrier or Avoider
• Detail or big picture oriented

What influences how you approach money?
Emotions

Does your mind or your emotions control your money use?
How did your birth family treat money?
Who handled the budgeting/banking chores?
How did you learn about money?
What were your parents views on discretionary spending?
Have you seen money used as power in a relationship?
Personal Values

• What do you/does your family value?

- Family
- Fortune
- Freedom
- Education
- Recreation
- Entertainment
- Security

- Career
- Acceptance
- Stability
- Power
- Peace
- Fame
- Risk
- Hobbies
Marriage and Money

• Recognize that each partner brings his/her own family background, set of goals, standards, values and rules regarding money to the relationship.

• Communication = family finance success

Relationships are about compromise.
So far...

We have identified how our family, emotions and values influence our finances.

This background is a key foundation for creating personalized goals and a spending plan that will work for you!
Goals

Short, medium, or long-term, and SMART

Specific Measurable
Attainable
Relevant
Time-related

Written Down & Posted
Make a Plan

• Identify the steps needed to take in order to accomplish your goal and place them in a timeline.

• Write down all the resources you need such as money, time, energy, people, and where to seek helpful information.
Take Action

- Take one step, the first step
- Acknowledge that finance is complex
- When you run into roadblocks, don’t give up! Go over or around them, find a way
- You can do hard things!
Short-Term Goals - Less than 1 year to achieve

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Goal</th>
<th>Total Cost</th>
<th># Months to achieve</th>
<th>How much $ to save a month</th>
<th>Comments &amp; Progress</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

Middle-Term Goals - Between 1-5 years to achieve:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Goal</th>
<th>Total Cost</th>
<th># Months to achieve</th>
<th>How much $ to save a month</th>
<th>Comments &amp; Progress</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

Long-Term Goals - Over 5 years to achieve:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Goal</th>
<th>Total Cost</th>
<th># Months to achieve</th>
<th>How much $ to save a month</th>
<th>Comments &amp; Progress</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
Savings

• Putting aside money from present earnings to provide for the future to:

  – Cope with emergencies
  – Purchase “big ticket” items
  – Fund high-cost goals
  – Generate low risk income
  – Have security and peace of mind
Emergency Fund

Everyone should have an emergency fund consisting of 3-6 months expenses in case of lost income due to illness or job loss.

Example: Expenses of $3,000 a month
- Dual Wage Household: Three month’s savings of $9,000
- Single Wage Household: Six month’s savings of $18,000
How To Save

- Develop a habit- Pay yourself first.
- Motivation based on family values.
- 30 Year Vision

The Ideal: Save 10% of your income
What is a Financial Plan?

• aka budget

• A spending plan is a positive motivational tool which helps you plan for long-term financial achievements and

  • Guides your monthly purchases
  • Still allows you to indulge now and then

What a financial plan can do for you...

• Allow you to learn how finances work in your life
• Enable you to make good decisions about how you use money
• Make you aware of where your money is going
• Give you a way to save for specific items
• Help you to live within your budget
• Show you where you can cut spending
• Allow you to spend money without feeling guilty
• Create a way to measure your progress
Income

• Sources:
  - Salaries and Wages
  - Bonuses
  - Disability
  - Dividends
  - Pensions
  - Tips
  - Child Support
  - Unemployment
  - Social Security
  - Rental Income

• Your monthly income:
  • Gross income is the total you actually earned
  • Net income is what is left over after your employer takes out deductions for taxes, Social Security, etc...
Expenses

• Fixed:

• Variable:

• Periodic:

• If you don’t plan where the $$ goes, you’ll wonder where the $$ went...
Spending Plan formats

- Paper and pencil
- Checkbook register / spreadsheet system
- Accounting book system
- On-line tools: www.Mint.com
- Bank or Credit Union
- Smart phone apps
Envelopes System

- Set up several envelopes, each identified for a different expense:
  - Mortgage/Rent
  - Utilities
  - Eating Out
  - Entertainment
  - Food
  - Lunch
  - Vacation
  - Other
  - Auto Payment
  - Gifts
  - Savings

- Each time you get paid, allocate a portion of your paycheck into the different envelopes. Any money left over should automatically go into the savings envelope.
Cash Flow

- After you have completed your monthly spending plan and compared your net income against your living expenses, you will be left with either a positive or negative cash flow.
Budget Tips

Spending Plans:
• Review and Revise
• Keep it simple
• Avoid quick fixes
• Add a fudge factor
• Give it time
• Others?
• What is the purpose of tracking income and expenses?
• How to track.....& for HOW long?
