Description

This webinar, hosted by USU Extension economics, will cover the economic aspects of Utah's agricultural situation. It will include market updates for common commodities and livestock, as well as the impacts of covid-19 on local food systems. The current drought situation and assessment tools will be discussed along with updates on the hemp market in Utah and nationwide. Farm financial resources and programs at the state and federal level will be covered along with potential components of forthcoming federal programs. This webinar is targeted at agricultural stakeholders in Utah including, but not limited to, state and federal agency representatives, farmer and rancher groups, farm financial institutions, tribal government representatives, and Extension leadership. There will be time after each presentation for questions and discussion.
