

Beginning Beekeeping

February 4 | 9 AM

Beekeeping is an art that rewards the beekeeper with honey, bee products, and the satisfaction that comes with properly managing a hive. This beginning beekeeping class will cover bee lifecycles, equipment, setting up a hive, and general seasonal maintenance.

For the LOVE of Aggie Chocolate (Members Class)

February 8 | 6 PM

Dr. Silvana Martini will discuss the basics of chocolate production from farm-to-bar and introduce basic sensory science concepts that can be applied to tasting chocolate. Join us to sample a variety of chocolate produced by the USU Aggie Chocolate Factory.

Public Pruning Demo

February 18 | 9 AM

This class provides an in-depth opportunity to learn foundational skills and principles for pruning apples, peaches, grapes, and brambles. Topics include pruning cuts, tree form, and concepts that lead to successful fruit production.

Walk & Talk: Pruning Principles

February 22 | 4 PM

Walk through some of our dormant trees while learning the basics for pruning your own trees with the USU Botanical Center Director, Jerry Goodspeed. Foundation pruning principles will be taught to help you improve your pruning skills.

Movie Night (Members Event)

March 8 | 6 PM

Members Movie Night featuring the award-winning film The Biggest Little Farm. This is a hopeful story of a farm built on biodiversity and recognition of interconnections, transformation, and living in harmony with the world around us.

Walk & Talk: Seed Starting Basics

March 22 | 4 PM

Have you wanted to grow your own garden plants from seed? This class will demonstrate and provide instruction on techniques and needed equipment for successful seed starting. Class members will take home a pony-pack of six various tomatoes and peppers that they will plant in class.

Seasonal Walk with the Director

March 30 | 6 PM | Free

Bulbs & Blooms: Join USUBC Director, Jerry Goodspeed, to explore and learn about early spring blooms. We will walk through the trees, perennials, and of course, the bulbs, and talk about their care and growth habits.

Pulmonaria 'Raspberry Splash'

To become a garden member visit our website.

To register please visit our online calendar.

