'We're already running out of water': the reality and future of Utah's drought

CWEL Director Kelly Kopp is interviewed for this Channel 4 ABC.com article about the current state of Utah's drought and water supplies.

"I spend a lot of my time worrying, frankly, and being concerned about our current situation," says Kelly Kopp, a water conservation specialist and professor at Utah State University. "We should have been thinking about this more carefully decades ago."
