Water: Living Well with What We've Got

04/29/2016

Water: Living Well with What We've Got

As part of Logan City's 'Green Futures Learning Series: A Pathway for Better Living', specialists from the Center for Water Efficient Landscaping (CWEL) will be discussing ways to conserve water in your landscape.

Water- Living Well With What We've Got

Join CWEL faculty members for Logan City's Green Futures Learning Series. Turfgrass Specialist Kelly Kopp (USU Professor/Extension Water Conservation), Joanna Endter-Wada (USU Professor of Natural Resource Policy and Social Science), and Larry Rupp (Professor Ornamental Horticulture, Extension Specialist) will speak about how to save water around your home and specifically in your yard!

When: Wednesday, May 18th

Where: Logan City Hall Conference Center, 290 N 100 W, Logan, UT

Time: 6:00 pm