Fresh Growth:

Approaches to a More Sustainable Future
from Western Ag Practitioners Podcast

Hosted by Western SARE

Season 4 is coming soon!

You'll hear from farmers and ranchers throughout the West about the specific, creative sustainable practices they are using in their operation; why they made the changes; and how implementing such practices has helped both their natural resource goals and their financial bottom-line. Cover crops, raising livestock, soil health, growing for local markets, and building farmer networks are all topics covered.
