

Designation of the Grand Staircase-Escalante National Monument and the Impact on Trust

Designation of the Grand Staircase-Escalante National Monument and the Impact on Trust

The exclusionary manner in which designation of natural protected areas occurs often results in detrimental impacts for the residents and produces contentious relations between managers and local residents. This report begins to fill a research void by examining impacts of the Grand Staircase-Escalante National Monument designation on trust in federal agencies.

View final report