

Summary of the Utah Recreational Use Statute

Summary of the Utah Recreational Use Statute

Landowners may fear being sued or held liable in a court of law for injuries sustained by people recreating on their land. This report provides a review of statutes are in place for the explicit purpose of protecting private landowners' interests if they choose to provide the public with access and opportunities for outdoor recreation on their lands.

View summary report