

Outcomes & Impact Quarterly – Fall Issue 2023

11/17/2023

```
$(document).ready(function(){ $('#.pdf-wrapper').hide();
$('#.pageTitle').addClass('text-bold'); });
```

Outcomes & Impact Quarterly Fall Issue 2023

In This Issue

- Create Healthy Gardens: Evaluation of a SNAP-Ed and Master Gardener Collaboration
- Urban Homestead Education for Backyard Gardeners
- Impact of an Opioid Harm Reduction Consortium: Emergency and Justice Engagement
- Preparing Youth for Civic Life and Leadership: Evaluating the 4-H Youth Officer Program

Download Report

INTRODUCTION

As we transition from the warmth of summer to the crispness of autumn, we reflect on the impacts we've made, the issues we work to address, and the exciting prospects that lie ahead. In the articles below, you will find a wide range of outcomes and impacts from the USU Extension programs throughout the state. Please enjoy this issue of Outcomes & Impact Quarterly highlighting some of our core programming areas - food production and gardening, substance abuse reduction, and youth development.

Sincerely,
Kenneth L. White
Dean, College of Agriculture and Applied Sciences; Vice President, Extension and Agriculture

IN THIS ISSUE

- Create Healthy Gardens: Evaluation of a SNAP-Ed and Master Gardener Collaboration
- Urban Homestead Education for Backyard Gardeners
- Addressing the Opioid Crisis: An Evaluation of the Community Opioid Education Pilot Program
- Impact of an Opioid Harm Reduction Consortium: Emergency and Justice Engagement
- Preparing Youth for Civic Life and Leadership: Evaluating the 4-H Youth Officer Program

View More Impacts

Download PDF