

Outcomes & Impact Quarterly – Fall Issue 2024

11/04/2024

```
$(document).ready(function(){ $(''.pdf-wrapper').hide();
$(''.pageTitle').addClass('text-bold'); });
```

Outcomes & Impact Quarterly Fall Issue 2024

In This Issue

- Innovative Food Security Program: NourishTank
- Assessing Community Needs and Concerns in Iron County
- Educational Series for Latino Entrepreneurs in Utah
- Evaluating the “What’s Up Down South” Economic Summit: Transforming Feedback into Value and Relevance
- Raising Awareness of the Link Between Coal Mining and Mental Health

Download Report

INTRODUCTION

In today's rapidly evolving landscape, addressing the challenges of food security, economic development, and community resilience has never been more critical. The outcomes and impacts provided below from USU Extension derive into essential topics such as ensuring access to nutritious food, conducting effective needs assessments to guide impactful programming, and supporting rural communities through tailored initiatives. Additionally, we explore the growing impact of Latino entrepreneurs, whose innovation and leadership are transforming both local economies and broader markets.

Sincerely,
Kenneth L. White
 Vice President, USU Extension; Senior Vice President, Statewide Enterprises

IN THIS ISSUE

- Innovative Food Security Program: NourishTank
- Assessing Community Needs and Concerns in Iron County
- Educational Series for Latino Entrepreneurs in Utah
- Evaluating the “What’s Up Down South” Economic Summit: Transforming Feedback into Value and Relevance
- Raising Awareness of the Link Between Coal Mining and Mental Health

View More Impacts

Download PDF