

Outcomes & Impact Quarterly – Spring Issue 2022

05/10/2022

```
$(document).ready(function(){ $('.pdf-wrapper').hide();
$('.pageTitle').addClass('text-bold'); });
```

Outcomes & Impact Quarterly Spring Issue 2022

In This Issue

- Using A Community Garden Program to Promote Positive Youth Development
- Pack It Out Utah: USU Water Quality Extension leads Utah's Statewide Trails and Waterways Cleanup
- Welcoming and Inclusive Farmers Markets: Encouraging Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion
- Understanding the Needs of Residents in Sevier County to Plan Impactful Programs
- Cultural Competency in USU Extension: Impact of Professional Development for Latino Outreach Programs

Download Report

INTRODUCTION

I am excited to share Volume 2, Issue 1 of Outcomes & Impact Quarterly (OIQ). In 2021, OIQ showcased 18 different programs in Utah involving over 50 of our faculty and staff members. USU Extension is proud of their efforts to improve the lives of Utahns. I look forward to sharing more impacts through OIQ this year and invite you to read this current issue to learn more about our progress and impacts on youth development, food access, water quality, and diversity in your communities.

Sincerely,

Kenneth L. White
Dean, College of Agriculture and Applied Sciences, Vice President, Extension and Agriculture

IN THIS ISSUE

- Using A Community Garden Program to Promote Positive Youth Development
- Pack It Out Utah: USU Water Quality Extension leads Utah's Statewide Trails and Waterways Cleanup
- Welcoming and Inclusive Farmers Markets: Encouraging Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion
- Understanding the Needs of Residents in Sevier County to Plan Impactful Programs
- Cultural Competency in USU Extension: Impact of Professional Development for Latino Outreach Programs

View More Impacts

Download PDF