Meg Johnson has motivated tens of thousands of people across the globe with her motto: When life gets too hard to stand, just keep on rollin’! Meg accidentally jumped off a cliff and broke her neck in 2004, at the age of 22. She spent 4 months in the hospital recovering from multiple injuries and returned home a quadriplegic, without the use of her legs, back, stomach, or hands. Wheelchair bound and determined, Meg refuses to sit still. Since she was paralyzed, Meg has competed at the national Ms. Wheelchair America pageant in New York, winning the Spirit Award; founded and directed the Ms. Wheelchair Utah pageant; instituted a service outreach program; and authored several books.
