

EXTENSION
UtahStateUniversity™

4-H LIVESTOCK

JUDGING CAMP!

Hosted by the Utah County 4-H Livestock Ambassadors

FEBRUARY
23-24

Spanish Fork Fairgrounds
Spanish Fork, Utah

REGISTER BY
FEB 10

Through 4-H Online
Must be Enrolled as 4-H
Member to register

4-H Livestock Judging Camp

Event will include a livestock judging contest, workshops on terminology and parts of the animal, judging criteria, reasons, note taking, and hands on learning opportunities.

Camp Registration

$25

- Meals
- Camp t-shirt
- Livestock Judging Contest
- Workshops

Judging Contest Only Registration

$10

- Lunch
- Livestock Judging Contest

BRING A STUFFED ANIMAL TO DONATE!

The stuffed animals will be given to parole officers to carry in their cars to give to children whose parents are being taken to jail. The animals help children feel that they are not alone and that they have a friend. Your donation is appreciated!

2018 PRESENTERS

Maddie Comes

Maddie grew up on her family's commercial cow calf operation in Lewistown, Montana. She was an active member in FFA, where she competed in livestock and meats judging. Maddie joined the Colorado State University Agriculture Science family in the Fall of 2014. She was a member of the 2016 CSU Meats Judging Team and chose to continue her collegiate judging career as a member of the 2017 Livestock Judging Team. Maddie will graduate this May with a Bachelors of Science in Animal Science. After graduation, Maddie will continue her education at Washington State School of Veterinary Medicine as a member of the Class of 2022.

Megan Thormodsgard

Megan grew up on her family's commercial cattle operation in Briggsdale, Colorado. Throughout her youth she was very active in 4-H and FFA. She participated in both 4-H and FFA meat and livestock judging teams and showed cattle, hogs, sheep, and goats. After high school she began her undergraduate studies at Colorado State University pursuing a dual degree in Animal Science and Agriculture Education. She served as a Colorado State FFA Officer between her sophomore and junior year at CSU. When she returned to CSU she judged on the 2017 Colorado State University Livestock Judging Team. Megan plans to pursue a career as an Agriculture Educator after graduation.