Spring 2022

This newsletter highlights our work in helping build diversity, equity, and inclusion at Utah farmers markets through a USDA Farmers Market Promotion Program grant lead by USU Extension Sustainability. Overall project impacts since 2018 are featured, along with a specific impact report for a diversity, equity, and inclusion community of practice we held with market managers in 2021. This issue also features our directory of farmers markets and related local food resources. Thank you for supporting local in Utah!
