

Summer 2019

07/18/2019

Summer 2019

The hottest months of summer are upon us. In this summer newsletter, we continue highlights of our work in regeneration through permaculture design occurring across the country. In addition to blog highlights from interviews with permaculture leaders in the United States, we provide an overview of what can be found on the USU Extension Permaculture website. We hope these stories continue to help you positively reshape your relationship with your environment and community.

View Newsletter