

Winter 2021

02/09/2021

Winter 2021

As we emerge from the darkest days of the year, our sights turn to spring, sewing seeds, and reconnecting with community. This USU Extension Sustainability newsletter features our publications about social and environmental healing, and about community agriculture. We also highlight our online Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) series for growers, Utah Farmers Market Network Website, and ways to improve local food systems and equitable access to locally grown food.

View Newsletter