

Larry Sagers Master Gardener Scholarship Information

Larry Sagers was a long time Extension Professor at Utah State University and provided leadership for Utah's Master Gardener program. He was also a horticulture specialist who gave much of his time and energy to educating the public and helping people become more self-sustaining through gardening and horticulture education.

The Larry Sagers Scholarship is based on an endowment of funds donated to the University by friends and family of Larry Sagers. The purpose of the scholarship is to provide a tuition waiver for the USU Master Gardener program for select individuals who demonstrate financial need and have a commitment of using their newly acquired skills to further the work of Utah State University Extension as a volunteer in their area. Scholarships awarded may be full or partial scholarships. Partial scholarships will have their 20 additional service hours prorated accordingly. This scholarship is available to Master Gardener volunteer training programs throughout the state of Utah.
